TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR INDIVIDUAL CONSULTANT

Hiring Office:	UNFPA Malaysia Country Office
Title	Consultant for National Family Policy and Action Plan Years 2026-2030
Purpose of consultancy:	UNFPA is the United Nations Sexual and Reproductive Health agency. Our mission is to deliver a world where every pregnancy is wanted, every childbirth is safe and every young person's potential is fulfilled.
	Considering the critical role of family well-being in national development, the Ministry of Women, Family and Community Development (MWFCD) developed the National Family Policy (NFP) in 2010. This policy prioritises the perspective of the family in all socio- economic development efforts to produce a high-quality generation. It also underlines the importance of the role of the family institution to continue to be preserved and strengthened in addition to emphasizing the concept of family well-being which is based on family values such as love, honesty, fairness and equity regardless of status, gender and age. The family institution is one of the micro systems in the network of large social systems. The role of the family institution is not only to meet the needs of socialization and care, but also in the spectrum of education, economy, health and environment which are closely related to ensur the well-being of a family institution.
	NFP also supports existing policies such as the National Social Policy, the National Women' Policy and the National Children's Policy and helps in fulfilling international commitments such as the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) and the Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC).
	NFP is also equipped with the Plan of Action for National Family Policy (PANFP) for a period of 10 years from 2010 to 2020 based on three (3) core strategies, namely:
	<ul> <li>increasing the commitment and involvement of various parties to prioritize the famil perspective in all socio-economic development efforts;</li> </ul>
	ii. ensure that laws, policies, procedures and enforcement of laws and regulations prioritize the family perspective; and
	iii. provide and ensure family-friendly programs, services and facilities are easily accessible.
	The implementation of NFP and PANFP is not only under the functional area of MWCFD, rather it crosses the jurisdiction and roles of various ministries, departments, agencies, academics, the private sector, Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs) and local communities.
	Among the issues that are given the main focus to cope with the increasingly complex world development scenario is the level of ability of a family institution which is now increasingly exposed to the dynamic environment, especially the changing demographics of families in Malaysia. The number of Malaysian households is increasing and is expected to continue to increase in line with the increase in the population every year. In addition, the size of the household has shrunk from 5.2 people to 3.9 people in 2020 and the basic and extended family household type is still the dominant type of family in addition to the increase in the percentage of single households since 2000. This situation has significant implications for social landscape among the community to face the challenges of life that need to be taken into account in national development planning.
	Recognizing this concern, the MWCFD has been actively implementing various initiatives aimed at elevating the family as the primary cornerstone in the construction of both community and nation. Among the main ones is the KASIH core value campaign to instil values purely based on Love, Morality, Health and Safety, Knowledge and Harmony in family members.
	In addition to the implementation of various family programs, the level of family well-being in Malaysia is also assessed through the Family Well-Being Index Study (FWI) by the National Population and Family Development Board (NPFDB) starting in 2011. The FWI is one of the benchmarks for the level of family well-being in Malaysia as well as used as the main reference in formulating and developing policies, programs and services, especially related to strengthening and increasing the level of family well-being in this country. Based on the FWI score in 2019, the level of well-being of Malaysian families is still at a moderate level of 7.72.
